First day at BHIS- K

Ms. Priya Nicholas (Grade 4A Educator)

Our lives are full of new events which we experience on different days. Similarly, going to school for the first time is also memorable. How can one forget their first day of school? It is only natural to remember that day, no matter if it was good or bad.

The first day of school is a landmark moment in a child's life—setting them off on a life-changing path of personal learning and growth. Most of us can remember countless minor details—what clothes we wore, our teacher's name, who we sat next to, etc.

"Our first day of school is a day of hope and possibility—a day for getting off to a good start". Expressing feelings can help you to feel connected, empowered, relieved, supported and understood.

In order to make the commitment alive with the school, we set a badge for each student to decorate and express their feelings about the reopening and togetherness in school.

Our BHIS -K learners, expressed their emotions, thoughts and feelings through the badges with their creative and innovative minds. We have thus started our journey of togetherness again with a lot of joy and happiness.

Why Libraries Matter: Library Week 2022 at BHISK

Mr. Chaitanya. S (English Educator, CBSE)

“The Only Thing that you have to know, is the location of the library” ~ By Albert Einstein

Lance and Keith Curry, in their article “The impact of School Library Media Centers on Academic Achievement”, mention the evidence of the positive impact of library media centers on academic achievement. One of the important findings was that the students whose library media specialists participate in the instructional process are higher academic achievers. Clare Snowball makes it clear in his article, “Enticing teenagers into the library” that children and teenagers are the future adult users of libraries, and how they are treated in our libraries, particularly school and public libraries, can cement lifelong memories and habits in these young people. One of the drawbacks in present era is that students are less likely to visit libraries despite many services and programmes in libraries that aim to reverse this trend. Sidney Sheldon perfectly describes libraries. He says, “Libraries store the energy that fuels the imagination. They open up windows to the world and inspire us to explore and achieve, and contribute to improving our quality of life.”

Upon elucidating the significance of the library and its usage, BHIS-k organized National Library Week from 6th April to 8th April 2022 on the school’s campus. Students eagerly participated in various events like; poster design, writing graphic short story, creating a new school library logo, and summarising a story book. One of the highlights of the events was the Mega Quiz competition. The event was organized by the library team. Our Chairperson, Mr. Yasir Nainar and Principal, Ms. Asma Nainar graced the occasion with their august presence.
